For the prevention and cure of
BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS
is recommended
HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from Peter Graham, living near Middleburg, Loudoun county, Va. on the night of the 25th of March last, a very likely Negro girl, named ANN, purchased of Wm. Noland, living at Aldie, Loudoun county, whose family she was raised in. She is of a yellow complexion, round faced, thick lips, with large staring eyes, and rather delicate featured for a negro—small feet, a tolerable ready speech, and mild with it; about 18 years of age, middle size, and very well made; rather thick, about 5 feet high from appearance. She had on when she went away a dress of coating cloth, made in a coat and jacket, with skirts of a brown snuff color. I have reason to believe she is in or near Philadelphia or New-York. I will give fifty dollars reward if taken in Fauquier, Loudoun, Prince William, or Fairfax counties, or the District of Columbia, if taken in any other county or state, and secured in any jail, so that I obtain information and get her, I will give one hundred dollars, and all reasonable charges paid in either case, if brought home.

From the Port Folio.

[In the following Ode, Horace, in a strain of tender melancholy, pathetically laments the shortness of life, and the inefficacy of all human cares and precautions to avert the inevitable hour of Death.]

TO POSTHUMUS.

"Eheu! fugaces Posthume, Posthume,
"Labuntur anni." HORACE.

Alas! my friend, our fleeting years
Roll fast away—nor prayers nor tears
Avail to save our wasting breath,
Or shun the unerring stroke of Death:
No!—should we offer every hour,
New victims slain to that dread power,
Hell's sovereign lord—whose iron hand restrains
Gigantic Geryon's limbs in adamantine chains,
Where Tityrus 'gainst his rav'ning vulture raves,
Where Styx confines them with its gloomy waves.
Sad stream! across whose sullen tide,
In Charon's bark one day must glide
All whom the fruits of earth sustain,
Whether the powerful prince, or humble rustic swain.
In vain we shun the battle's strife;
From roaring seas escape with life;
Vainly we guard, with anxious mind,
Against the bleak autumnal wind:
Condemn'd to wander through the shades below,
Where languid streams of black Cocytus flow;
Where murd'rous Danaids vent their fruitless moan,
And toiling Sisyphus pants with ceaseless groan.
Your horse, your lands, your cultivated farms,
The wife that fills your circling arms,
Must all be left—and not a tree,
Of all you rear'd, shall follow thee;
Cyprus alone its mournful branches wave
O'er the green turf that marks its master's grave.
A worthier heir shall seize thy treasur'd hoard
Of mellow vines, and at his festive board,
With richer streams the marble floor distain,
Than, at their sumptuous feasts, luxurious pontiffs drain.

RELIGION IS LOVE.

Extract of a letter from the late Rev. S. Pearce, of Birmingham, to a friend who had lately been settled in a new charge.

You seem to breathe in a free air, and to be connected with such whose christianity can be allied to candor. What a pity such an alliance is not universal!—But I mistake—TRUE christianity, genuine, unadulterated christianity is all candor. Oh! how I hear her sweet voice whispering from above, "Let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind." Ah, how different the spirit of professing christians to the genius of the religion by which they are distinguished! Worse than the tyrant of Babylon; he sat up an image to be worshipped, but we have exalted ourselves, and have said in fact, Whoso, when he heareth our voice falleth not down and worshippeth as we worship, believes not as we believe, and gives our understanding credit as an acquaintance with the truth, however dissonant his opinion may be to our own, he shall be cast into a furnace of fire. The God of love assumes the tone of severity at such tyranny as this; and exclaims, with a keenness which must pierce to the heart, "Who art thou that judgest another's servant? To his own master he standeth or falleth." Brother, I am sick of almost every thing that has been called religion, but Love—supreme love to God—universal benevolence to man. I don't know that I am a better christian than ever—but I can assure you that I am a firmer believer than ever, and I am enraptured at the thought that all the objects which christianity requires me to believe are to be contemplated with delight. It is all LOVE: love is the Alpha, love, the Omega. It originated in love; it is exemplified in love; it works by love; it terminates in perfect, universal love. Thanks be to God for this unspeakable gift, this religion of Love!

A rich ignoramus, in giving orders to a bookseller to furnish his library, requested him particularly to let him have Pope, Milton and Shakespeare's works; and added, "If those fellows publish any thing new, don't forget to let me have them."

ALEXANDRIA:
SATURDAY, JANUARY 24, 1818.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT AT WASHINGTON.

Friday, January 23, 1818.

A proposition in the shape of a resolution was yesterday offered to the House of Representatives by Mr. Johnson, of Virginia, "to direct the committee on naval affairs to enquire into the expediency of so amending an act passed in 1800, entitled an act for the better government of the navy of the U. States; which imposed the penalty of death on any officer or private in the navy who should disobey the lawful orders of his superior officer, or strike him, or draw or offer to draw, or raise any weapon against him while in the execution of the duties of his office, as to make the punishment, in the case of an officer, a forfeiture of his commission and dismission from the service, and in case of a private dismission from the service; and so to amend said act, as to subject the superior officers, who shall strike, or draw, or offer to draw, or raise any weapon against his inferior officer, a forfeiture of his commission and dismission from the service; and further to provide that no officer dismissed from the service for either of the causes above enumerated should be reinstated by the President." This proposition was, not only in fact, but was avowed by Mr. Johnson to be occasioned by certain recent transactions in the Mediterranean between a celebrated naval commander of ours and a captain of marines under his command. With respect to the law, Mr. Johnson censured it in very warm terms, as creating distinctions in the navy hostile to the spirit of our constitution and government—adverse to the genius of our people, and so bad that nothing worse could be found in the most despotic government—which distinctions it was the object of his resolution to do away. He adverted to the pamphlet published by captain Heath, which accused commodore Perry of assailing him with vulgar abuse, and violating his person by blows, which allegations had never been denied. He had no personal knowledge, he said, of any of the parties implicated—neither commodore Perry, nor captain Heath, nor commodore Chauncey, expressing at the same time the highest respect and admiration of the conduct of commodore Perry. The brilliance of whose fame, he said with regret, must be sullied by this transaction, if it had been truly represented. If such things were authorised by this law, Congress must interpose and repeal that part of it, or the glory of the navy would be shorn of its beams.

General Harrison said that he made it a rule never to oppose enquiry. But he was free to say that the resolution now offered contained principles to which he could never assent. Mr. Forsyth said that, as the resolution stood, it struck at the root of the naval service—and he proposed an amendment, which he afterwards withdrew. Mr. Pleasants said that the subject demanded the attention of congress—but he thought that the committee ought not to be limited in its powers, but enabled to find out where abuses were, and to apply a remedy to them:—he therefore moved to amend the resolution so as to direct the committee "to enquire whether any, and if any, what alterations were necessary to be made in the law for the government of the navy"—which, Mr. Johnson having accepted it as a modification, passed. On motion of Mr. Johnson, it was then ordered "that the secretary of the navy should be called upon to report to the house the proceedings of the two court martials on commodore Perry and captain Heath."

Gen. Harrison then renewed his proposition respecting General Kosciusko, which, after some opposition from Gen. Reed, Mr. Desha, and Mr. Forsyth, he withdrew. After which, the commutation bill being brought up, Mr. Garnett, of Virginia, moved an indefinite postponement—which was negatived.—The question on it being taken by ayes and noes, there were of each; when the speaker expressed his satisfaction that the state of the votes enabled him to preserve a measure fraught with the greatest advantages to the soldier and to government, and gave his vote against the postponement—After which Mr. Robertson's amendment was rejected. And then the question was about to be put on the amendment, or rather the new bill in the shape of one proposed by Mr. Clay, when the house adjourned to this morning—when, I rather believe the bill will pass.

In Senate of the United States, Jan. 21,

Mr. Goldsborough, from the committee on the District of Columbia, reported a bill to incorporate the Mechanic Relief Society of Alexandria, which was read and passed to the second reading.

From the National Intelligencer, Jan. 21.

The following were the observations of Mr. Harrison, on introducing the motion for honoring the memory of Kosciusko, on the 20th inst.

The public papers have announced an event which is well calculated to excite the sympathy of every American bosom. Kusciusko, the martyr of liberty is no more! We are informed that he died at Solure, in France, some time in October last.

In tracing the events of this great man's life, we find in him that consistency of conduct which is the more to be admired, as it is so rarely to be met with. He was not at one time the friend of mankind, and at another the instrument of their oppression; but he preserved throughout his whole career, those noble principles which distiguished him in its commencement—which influenced him at an early period of his life to leave his country, and his friends, and in another hemisphere to fight for the rights of humanity.

Kosciusko was born and educated in Poland, of a noble and distinguished family—a country where the distinctions in society are perhaps carried to greater lengths than in any other. His Creator had, however, endowed him with a soul capable of rising above the narrow prejudices of a cast, and breaking the shackles which a vicious education had imposed on his mind.

When very young, he was informed by the voice of fame, that the standard of liberty had been erected in America, that an insulted and oppressed people had determined to be free, or perish in the attempt. His ardent and generous mind caught, with enthusiasm, the holy flame, and from that moment he became the devoted soldier of liberty.

His rank in the American Army afforded him no opportunity greatly to distinguish himself. But he was remarked throughout his service, for all the qualities which adorn the human character. His heroic valor in the field, could only be equalled by his moderation and affability in the walks of private life. He was idolized by the soldiers for his bravery, and beloved and respected by the officers for the goodness of his heart, and the great qualities of his mind.

Contributing greatly by his exertions, to the establishment of the independence of America, he might have remained and shared the blessings it dispensed, under the protection of a chief who loved and honored him, and in the bosom of a grateful and affectionate people.

Kosciusko had, however, other views. It is not known that until the very period I am speaking of, he had formed any distinct idea of what could, or indeed what ought to be done for his own. But in the revolutionary war he drank deeply of the principles which produced it. In his conversations with the intelligent men of our country, he acquired new views of the science of government and the rights of man. He had seen too that to be free it was only necessary that a nation should will it, and to be happy, it was only necessary that a nation should be free. And was it not possible to procure these blessings for Poland?—For Poland, the country of his birth, which had a claim to all his efforts, to all his services? That unhappy nation groaned under a complication of evils which has scarcely a parallel in history. The mass of the people were the abject slaves of the nobles. The nobles torn into factions, were alternately the instruments and the victims of their powerful and ambitious neighbors. By intrigue, corruption, and force, some of its fairest provinces had been separated from the republic, and the people, like beasts, transferred to foreign despots, who were again watching for a favorable moment for a second dismemberment.—To regenerate a people thus debased—To obtain for a country thus circumstanced, the blessings of liberty and independence, was a work of as much difficulty as danger. But to a mind like Kosciusko's, the difficulty and danger put an enterprize served as stimulants to undertake it.

The annals of these times give us no detailed account of the progress of Kosciusko in accomplishing his great work, from the period of his return from America to the adoption of the new constitution of Poland, in 1791. This interval, however, of apparent inaction, was most usefully employed, to illumine the mental darkness which enveloped his countrymen. To stimulate the ignorant and bigoted peasantry with the hope of future emancipation—to teach a proud but gallant nobility that true glory is only to be found in the paths of duty and patriotism—interests the most opposed, prejudices the most stubborn, and habits the most inveterate, were reconciled, dissipated, and broken by the ascendancy of his virtues and example. The storm which he had foreseen, and for which he had been preparing, at length burst upon Poland. A feeble and unpopular government bent before its fury, and submitted itself to the Russian yoke of the invader. But the nation disdained to follow its example; in their extremity every eye was turned on the hero who had already fought their battles—the sage who had enlightened them, and the patriot who had set the example of personal sacrifices to accomplish the emancipation of the people.

Kosciusko was unanimouly appointed Generalisssimo of Poland, with unlimited powers, until the enemy should be driven from the country. On his virtue the nation reposed with the utmost confidence—and it is some consolation to reflect, amidst the general depravity of mankind, that two instances in the same age, have occurred, where powers of this kind, were employed solely for the purposes for which they were given.

It is not my intention, sir, to follow the Polish chief throughout the career of victory which, for a considerable time, crowned his efforts. Guided by his talents, and led by his valor, his undisciplined, illy armed militia charged with effect the veteran Russian and Prussian; the mailed cuirassers of the great Frederick, for the first time, broke and fled, before the lighter and appropriate cavalry of Poland. Hope filled the breasts of the patriots. After a long night, the dawn of an apparently glorious day broke upon Poland. But, to the discerning eye of Kosciusko, the light which it shed was of that sickly and portentous appearance, indicating a storm more dreadful than that which he had resisted.

He prepared to meet it with firmness, but with means entirely inadequate. To the advantages of numbers, of tactics, of discipline, and inexhaustible resources, the combined despots had secured a faction in the heart of Poland. And, if that country can boast of having produced its WASHINGTON, it is disgraced also by giving birth to a second Arnold. The day at length came which was to decide the fate of a nation and a hero. Heaven, for wise purposes, determined that it should be the last of Polish liberty. It was decided indeed, before the battle commenced. The traitor Poniski, who covered with a detachment the advance of the Polish army, abandoned his position to the enemy and retreated.

Kosciusko was astonished but not dismayed. The disposition of his army would have done honor to Hannibal. The succeeding conflict was terrible. When the talents of the general could no longer direct the mingled mass of combatants, the arm of the warrior was brought to the aid of his soldiers. He performed prodigies of valor. The fabled prowess of Ajax, in defending the Grecian ships, was realized by the Polish hero. Nor was he badly seconded by his troops. As long as his voice could guide, or his example fire their valor, they were irresistible. In this unequal contest, Kosciusko was long seen, and finally lost to their view.

"Hope, for a season, bade the world farewell,
"And freedom shriek'd when Kosciusko fell."

He fell covered with wounds, but still survived. A cossack would have pierced his breast, when an officer interposed. "Suffer him to execute his purpose," said the bleeding hero, "I am the devoted soldier of my country, and will not survive its liberties." The name of Kosciusko struck to the heart of the Tartar, like that of Marius upon the Cimbrian warrior. The uplifted weapon dropped from his hand.

Kosciusko was conveyed to the dungeons of Petersburgh; and, to the eternal disgrace of the empress Catharine, she made him the object of her vengeance, when he could be no longer the object of her fears. Her more generous son restored him to liberty. The remainder of his life has been spent in virtuous retirement. Whilst in this situation in France, an anecdote is related of him which strongly illustrates the command which his virtues and his services had obtained over the minds of his countrymen.

In the late invasion of France, some Polish regiments, in the service of Russia, passed through the village in which he lived. Some pillaging of the inhabitants brought Kosciusko from his cottage. "When I was a Polish soldier," said he, addressing the plunderers, "the property of the peaceful citizen was respected." "And who art thou," said an officer, "who addresses us with this tone of authority?" "I am Kosciusko."—There was magic in the word. It ran from corps to corps. The march was suspended. They gathered round him, and gazed, with astonishment and awe, upon the mighty ruin he presented.—"Could it indeed be their hero," whose fame was identified with that of their country? A thousand interesting reflections burst upon their minds; they remembered his patriotism, his devotion to liberty, his triumphs and his glorious fall. Their iron hearts were softened, and the tear of sensibility trickled down their weather-beaten faces. We can easily conceive, sir, what would be the feelings of the hero himself in such a scene. His great heart must have heaved with emotion, to find himself once more surrounded by the companions of his glory; and that he would have been upon the point of saying to them—

"Behold your general, come once more
"To lead you on to laurel'd victory,
"To fame, to freedom."

The delusion could have lasted but for a moment. He was himself, alas! a miserable cripple; and for them! they were no longer the soldiers of liberty, but the instruments of ambition and tyranny. Overwhelmed with grief at the reflection, he would retire to his cottage, to mourn afresh over the miseries of his country.

Such was the man, sir, for whose memory I ask from an American Congress a slight tribute of respect. Not, sir, to perpetuate his fame—but our gratitude. His fame will last as long as liberty remains upon the earth: as long as a votary offers incense upon her altar, the name of Kosciusko will be invoked. And if, by the common consent of the world, a temple shall be erected to those who have rendered most service to mankind, if the statue of our great countryman shall occupy the place of the "Most Worthy," that of Kosciusko will be found by his side, and the wreath of laurel will be entwined with the palm of virtue to adorn his brow.

LITERARY NOTICE.

AMERICAN EDITION OF

DR. REES's NEW CYCLOPÆDIA.

The publishers beg leave to inform their subscribers, that vol. XXXVII. part II, (being the 74th number) is now ready for delivery.

When the undersigned became proprietors of this work, it appeared to be the general and anxious wish of the subscribers, to have it completed with all possible expedition; and every exertion has been made by the publishers to meet those wishes. In the space of two years they have published twenty-five half volumes or Parts, seventeen of which (exclusive of a volume of plates) have been published in the course of the last year—a rapidity of execution which they believe has never been exceeded in any country. It has ever been the sincere desire of the publishers to fulfil their engagements to the subscribers to this great work with punctuality: and they have reason therefore to expect, on the part of the subscribers, a corresponding punctuality.

The American publishers have now printed this work as far as they have received the London copy; and as soon as they receive the few remaining numbers, which they have reason to believe will not exceed four, the American edition will be finished with all possible despatch.

This work already contains upwards of eight hundred Engravings; and, when completed, will probably (with the extra volumes of Plates) amount to one thousand. These plates will comprehend, as they believe, upwards of five thousand different subjects, in all the various departments of the Arts and Sciences. The engravings of the Portraits of distinguished American characters, promised to be given in the work, are nearly completed, and will be ready (with two volumes of extra plates) with the last number.

Those subscribers, who have not yet taken up their volumes, are once more notified, that two hundred and fifty copies less of each of the last twenty five numbers have been printed than of the preceding forty-nine; and, that, owing to this arrangement, which was rendered necessary by the neglect of distant subscribers to take up their books, and other uncontrolable circumstances, there must, inevitably, be upwards of two hundred and fifty sets left incomplete at the close of the publication. Those, who, through neglect or improper delay, may hereafter find their application for the completion of their sets too late, will have no reasonable cause of complaint against any one but themselves, as all the subscribers were individually advised of the edition being reduced, more than two years ago.

To the Flour and Rice Millers

OF THE UNITED STATES.

GENTLEMEN,—It appears that many have refused to pay for license to use my improvements in the art of manufacturing flour, and in lessening the labor in rice mills, waiting the decision of the United States' courts; while many others have paid freely the sums I demanded for my license; there can exist no reason why some should pay and others be exempt. There has already been a sufficient number of decisions establishing the law, that each infringer is liable to pay treble my actual damages, which cannot be rated at less than the value of the use of my property during the infringement. I have expended the greatest part of a long, arduous, and indefatigable life in study and exertions to invent and introduce into useful operation several important and highly useful improvements, from which great benefits are derived to the users, and I could have put in operation many more equally useful, but was prevented by the unjustifiable opposition, wasting the profits of those in operation, which I had intended to apply to put others in operation which I had discovered; but which now lay dormant, to my great mortification and the public injury. I come into the courts claiming remuneration for my time and labor—the great expenses that I have incurred in advertising repeatedly over the United States, and in my agents travelling for many years to make the utility of the improvements known, and to instruct millwrights to make, and millers to use them. The law contemplates that I shall receive ample remuneration, and by it I was encouraged to risk the great expenses. I have repeatedly published that the price of my license for the remainder of the term should be, the full price of the labor and boarding saved by the use of my improvements in one year only, with lawful interest until paid; but to those who infringed my rights, and refused to pay when called on, I would, beginning with the year ending January 22, 1813, count the sum saved in labor and boarding during the last year (equal to the first price) as a new sum becoming due, and running on interest also; and so on, the 22d day of January in each and every year thereafter a new sum saved in labor and boarding becomes due, and runs on interest until license be purchased, demanding the interest only on all these sums, leaving the principal in the hands of the users; which is the least I can receive of them to meet the expenses which they have compelled me to incur. The above are now the only terms on which my agents are instructed to grant licenses, and they are instructed to institute suits against all infringers without giving them another call.

Those who wish to purchase licenses may apply to John Love, esq. Buckland, Prince William county, or to capt. John Moody, Richmond, Va.

OLIVER EVANS.

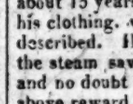

NOTE.—Persons using Mr. Evans' improvements, or parts of them, unpaid for, will be sued if they do not discharge the claim on application. Mr. William H. Alexander has, under my authority from Mr. Evans, been empowered to receive payments and deliver licenses to use his improvements. Payments, therefore, made to him, John Moody, or myself, will alone be valid, and save the expense of suit and treble damages to the defendants. JOHN LOVE.

Land for Sale.

THE Subscriber offers for sale, about 2000 acres of land in Fairfax county, not more than from seven to nine miles from Alexandria. The property is well watered, has a sufficiency of wood, and (judging from the condition of small and well cultivated farms that adjoin it,) it is highly susceptible of improvement.—It is at present divided into tenements, of from one to two hundred acres, each provided with a dwelling house, out houses, a garden and orchard; and might, of course, be laid off into four or five very compact farms. The principal object of the subscriber, being the introduction of a good system of husbandry into his neighbourhood, he will sell on very moderate terms, give a long credit on the whole amount of the purchase money, and require no other interest, than what the present rent of the land pays, being about 3 per cent. on its estimated value.

Valuable Land for Sale.

THE subscriber wishes to sell two valuable Tracts of Land—the situated in the upper part of Fairfax county, adjoining the lands of Samuel G. Griffith, and bounded north by the Potomac river, containing 700 acres, about one half in wood; of the cleared land a considerable proportion is first river bottom, equal in fertility to any in Virginia: the upland is well situated for farming and of a good quality. There is also a mill seat on the Tract of considerable value. This farm is worth the attention of any person wishing to engage in the farming business, as it certainly is not exceeded by any in the county (perhaps state) as a farm of profit, and may be had on reasonable terms. Mr. John Bickuler, who resides near this land, will shew it, and Mr. Wm. M'Carty of Loudoun county, or Mr. John W. Bronaugh of Georgetown, D. C. will make known the terms. If this Tract is not disposed of before the 2nd of MARCH, it will then be exposed to PUBLIC SALE, at Wiley's Tavern, on the road leading from Alexandria to Leesburg.

The other Tract contains 1000 acres, and is the upper and most valuable part of the Tract I live on. It is situated ten miles below Alexandria, and bounded N. by Accotink creek. This Tract will be divided to suit purchasers, if found necessary. Persons wishing to purchase will apply to the subscriber living at Cedar Grove, who will shew the land and make known the terms.

Valuable Family Medicines.

JUST received, direct from the proprietors, the following valuable MEDICINES, all of which have been in use for a number of years past, in almost every part of the United States; have been highly patronized by people of the first respectability; and approved by those who have had occasion to make use of them, for the cure of those disorders for which they are severally calculated.

Dr. Lee's Genuine (Windham) Bilious Pills,

Universally known and used throughout the United States as a family medicine. The fame of these pills has become so great, that many have attempted to counterfeit them—to guard against this, the proprietors have procured a stereotype label, and each box of Genuine Lee's Pills will hereafter be enclosed in one of these labels, with these words on the sides: "Lee's Genuine Windham Bilious Pills," and on the end of the label the words, "Samuel Lee, patenter, &c. I. Thompson, agent, joint proprietor," &c. and should any be offered for sale without said label on them the purchaser may be apprised that they are counterfeit.

Dr. Thompson's celebrated Eye Water,

For the cure of inflamed and sore eyes of almost every description. This valuable preparation comes highly recommended from the most respectable sources.—Price 50 and 25 cents a bottle.

Dr. Rawson's Genuine Itch Ointment,

James Kennedy & Son,

BOOKSELLERS,

KING-STREET, ALEXANDRIA,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from Lee's Medicine Store, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN'S ANTI BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in
Consumptions	the stomach and
Lowness of spirits	back
Loss of appetite	Indigestion
Impurity of blood	Melancholy
Hysteric'l affection	Gout in the stomach
Inward weaknesses	Pains in the limbs
and debility	Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.
